

I think that the Do not call registry is one of the single best law in 40 years. I was getting up to 30 overly aggressive annoying calls per night. They capitalized on your telephone courtesy. It took along time before I just hung up the telephone. I don't wish to have any commercial advertising or soliciting calls coming uninvited into my home. I believe this law should be left alone. I think if the general public finds out you are tinkering with it there will be a lot of noise to Congress.

John D. Fallon